MEMPHIS APPEAL.

CONDENSED DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT OF TENNESSEE, BY R. CLAY KING, ESQ.

JACKSON, SPECIAL NOVEMBER TERM, 1867.

Coffee vs. Ruffin.

Wm. Ruffin died in 1857, leaving a will, by the terms of which the executor, J. W. Ruffin, in order to pay debts, as well as to execute the other provisions of the will, was invested with enlarged powers of discretion in the sale and disposition of the estate, directing the executor to make a division of the estate among the devisees according to the portions allotted to each.

HELD: 1. That the proceeding for partition in the Shelby County Court in 1861, one of the three commissioners appointed having died, and the report of the other two never having been confirmed, was absolutely void.

2. That although full discretionary power was granted the executor by the will to make partition and division among the devisees, and make title, yet the power has never been exercised by the executor.

3. That the order by Jno. D. Coffee and wife, the wife being one of the devisees, to the executor to convey part of the realty coming to her under the will, is not binding on her so long as the same has not been executed by the executor, the paper not having been executed in accordance with the registration laws of this State.

4. In a contract where the inadequacy of the price is not so manifestly gross as to shock the conscience, it may, in connection with suspicious circumstances, and particularly where there exists a fiduciary relation between the parties, be regarded as fraudulent, and be relieved against.

5. In all contests between fiduciaries and cestius qui trust, the burden of proof of fairness is on the trustee, or quasi trustee.

6. Even after the trust is ended, to uphold the contract on the part of the trustee it must appear that he derived no advantage from information obtained by him as trustee.

7. Contracts between trustee and cestui que trust will be upheld whenever it is apparent that no element of fraud intervenes and that no advantage has been taken.

8. When fraud intervenes, and by subsequent sales of part of the property, the parties cannot be placed in statu quo, the contracts will be declared rescinded, and the property undisposed of returned, and relief given in money for the part disposed of.

9. However large or unrestricted the powers of a trustee may be, a court of equity will restrain the exercise thereof to prevent abuse.

10. The rule as applied to trustees, requiring them to sacrifice interest, applies with equal force to the agents, clerks, or employees, of such trustees, employed about the business of the trust.

11. Where an executor or trustee is entrusted with a discretion in the disposition of the estate, instrument in his control over the trust estate, the general rule on the subject applicable to administration, on ordinary questions, does not apply, and he will be allowed to borrow money at usurious interest, and pledge assets may be necessary to the protection and preservation of the property committed to his charge.

Allen vs. Ferguson. From Memphis Chancery.

HELD: 1. That the defendant having received slaves in trust, he and his ward as heirs at joint interest, from the State of Arkansas, coming to the law of this State, he is to be held liable here as for a conversion to the extent of the value of the interest of the ward. The loss of the slaves from whatever cause subsequent to the conversion falls on the guardian.

2. The case of McAllister vs. Olmstead, 1 Hum. 310, declaring that a receipt executed by a guardian, acknowledging the reception of the ward's estate, after the same has come to his hands, is conclusive against him, is recognized; but no such receipt appears in proof in this case.

3. Some of the slaves which were unlawfully removed from the State of Arkansas, having been received by the plaintiff, the conversion will be proved to him, for such as did not afterwards come to her possession.

4. The guardian, although appointed in Arkansas, will be held to an account here as a trustee.

NOTE.—It must be noted, in this case, that there appears no statute in Arkansas forbidding the removal of the ward's estate, and no judicial determination on the subject by the Courts of that State, it being he is held that the corpus of the ward's estate being in Arkansas, and the guardian being required to settle his accounts there, he was not authorized to remove the property from that State on his mere volition, and his doing so amounted to a conversion.

Bruce vs. Bank of West Tennessee. From Memphis Chancery.

HELD: That an order of the Chancellor, made in open court, refusing to grant an injunction, is not subject to appeal to this court. The appeal will be dismissed here, on motion, in such cases.

FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI.

CORRESPONDENCE of the Appeal.]

UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI, }
OXFORD, November 25, 1867. }

As one of the sentinels on the watch-tower, I am happy to speak out for the dear old University of Mississippi, and say, more than two months of the sixteenth session is passed, and "all is well." Indeed, never in the annals of this University have two months winged their flight into the misty haze of the forgotten past, bearing with them gladder tidings from her students; and never has the opening of a session portended brighter prospects.

On the 9th of September the session opened, and again these "classic shades" were illuminated by faces still redolent with the vigor of youth and with buoyant spirits warming with the noble feeling of emulation, upon entering with impatient zeal upon the grand literary arena. Then, indeed, was a happy meeting, such as none but the soldier or student can know. Then was a reunion of hearts whose affections had been bounden together by the noblest, truest and purest feelings of the human breast—friends more dear to each other now than ever, whose attachment was formed upon no motives of policy, no alliance of interest, nor any object of selfishness, but purely the offspring of generous and noble feelings and the result of disinterested regard. Such attachment is only strengthened by adversity and sweetened by sorrow.

Here a host of manly hearts have met together, not to luxuriate in ease and idleness—not to join in pleasure's reckless train—but coming up to the dear old Alma Mater, feeling the responsibility that Mississippi places upon them by sending them forth as the corner stones upon which the proud fabric of her fallen glory shall again be raised; and appreciating the anxious yearning, the fond hopes and the high expectations of those whose declining years are hastened, and the scene of whose earthly existence is being closed by the dark veil of universal gloom, and whose dirge is sung by the crashing of a falling country and the mournful requiem of departed joys; and considering, as becomes, men their positions and the general circumstances surrounding them, they have prudently directed their course accordingly, and with moral firmness are carrying forward their designs.

As a matter of economy in boarding, the students, in clubs of ten to twenty, have converted the lower rooms in the dormitories into kitchens, employed a few cooks and purchased cooking utensils and are boarding themselves. Each club appoints a steward alternately from their number, and the students superintend the purchasing of their own marketing and arranging their own meals, and thus they are boarding themselves at about one half the ordinary expense. It is true that the plan is attended with some inconvenience and the fair is but ordinary, yet this is an example of economy, supported by moral courage and commendable resolution too firm for the ridicule of the vain and silly. Nearly all the students in College (which now number two hundred and seven) are boarding in this manner. It is really amusing to hear the dinner bells and horns announcing meals at the several young "Gayoses," "St. Charleses," etc. Do Mississippians doubt that their sons are preparing to meet and to surmount obstacles? If you do, I have yet a brighter page to unfold to you?

During the past two weeks all the Churches of Oxford have assembled around a common altar, like brothers in Christ, united in one holy cause, like pilgrims on a common journey, and in harmonious unison they have started the "wheels of Zion" on its heavenly march, and doubtless dead and dull have stood aghast and shuddered at the results, whilst angels and the sacramental hosts of heaven have rejoiced. Such a glorious revival of religion as was never paralleled in the annals of this town as has been going bravely on in its heaven-born and irresistible course until more than one hundred and twenty-five professions of religion have been made, and until nearly every student in the University of Mississippi has enlisted in the cause of Christ, under the sacred banner of the Cross, and stand up as witnesses for Jesus—as new pillars in the church militant—as new stars in the glorious constellation that shall join the heavenly throng. The whole meeting has been characterized by good deportment and the exercise of sober reason and calm reflection, and the genuineness and sincerity of the results is to be credited, for no excitement or fanaticism pervaded the meetings. Such a great feeling and sincerity has been manifested for the great subject of "eternal life," that even the College exercises have been suspended for several days, and all have for a season abandoned their daily avocations and come up to the house of God, and there in the midst of the students stood our beloved Chancellor, Dr. Waddell, and he really seemed during the whole meeting to be to his devoted pupils what Moses was to the Israelites. And there, too, we four esteemed professors, Rev. Drs. Burney and Wheat, rendering themselves more dear to us by teaching us with impassioned eloquence our best and greatest lesson, "the beginning of knowledge." Rev. Mr. Bell, Mr. Mahen, Whitehead and Page were the other ministers present, and they were zealous in the good work. If the education of our youth is established upon such a foundation as the glorious Christian religion, oh! may not our wounded country see bright hopes yet gleaming through the dark mantle of adversity, "like glorious constellations upon an evening sky." May God build this institution up, the nursery of secular knowledge and divine truth, and give each

"New strength of soul;
A grander scope of thought,
His mind to nobler purpose would be wrought,
And feel and own, in this calm, solemn hour,
That 'tis man's highest glory to be good."

OCTAVIUS.

Convention Probably Defeated in Mississippi.

The Hernando Press contains the following: Joseph Rogers, one of the Registrars of this county, is retained until further notice, to close up the books, etc., so far as DeSoto county is concerned. Mr. R. returned from headquarters last week, and says the idea prevails that the Convention question had been defeated in Mississippi.

THE IMPEACHMENT QUESTION.

From the New York Tribune.]

The question of impeachment came up before the House of Representatives yesterday in the reports from the Committee of the Judiciary. The Committee does not occupy the position held in the report of the July session. At that time a majority of the members were opposed to impeachment; now, a majority express themselves in favor of the measure. Mr. Churchill has changed his mind. Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, the Chairman of the Committee, and one of the ablest members of the House, is earnest in the conviction that the evidence does not warrant articles of impeachment. Mr. Woodbridge (a Republican) and Messrs. Marshall and Eldridge unite in this conviction, which is ably argued in the minority report.

The House postponed the reports until next week. This will enable the members to study the testimony and vote intelligently. We choose to claim the same privilege. Impeachment is now only a subject calmly under consideration, and some days must elapse before we know thoroughly the nature of the evidence. Mr. Kelsey's bill, however, declaring the effect of an impeachment, and defining the meaning of the words "high crimes and misdemeanors," as used in the Constitution clause relative to the power of impeachment, may be viewed either as a partisan expedient to meet an exigency, or a general law to bear on the case of Andrew Johnson, or as provisions the necessity of which has been suggested by the supposed difficulties attending the impeachment of the present President, but which are designed for use only on other and future occasions. If they are intended to bear on the case of President Johnson, we think they are clearly ex post facto, and as such will offend the moral sense of the people as well as the legal sense of our lawyers and jurists. It is not merely a new remedy for a grievance that existed before, or a new mode of applying a remedy that existed before, that Mr. Kelsey's bill aims to supply. It establishes a new mode of prosecution, which is neither a trial before the Senate nor an impeachment by the House, but which results in a joint resolution of both Houses, a mode of prosecution wholly unknown to the Constitution, and therefore void. It establishes, also, a new sentence, which is neither one of "guilty" nor of "innocent" of any particular crime, but is simply a sentence that the office shall be suspended. It would be an anomaly in jurisprudence to allow a tribunal to suspend an officer whom they had not first pronounced to be guilty of crime. We are not certain, indeed, that the act defining impeachable offenses does not create into crimes, for the first time, the acts which it aims to punish. For if the acts which it declares to be criminal are already criminal, then the new definition is unnecessary and superfluous. If they have not been before criminal, then they are made so by the operation of this bill. We will not do Mr. Kelsey the injustice to suppose that he intends to pass a general law for President Johnson's special punishment, which will at once make criminal acts which, when committed, were not so, try the charge for these criminalized acts before a tribunal which, when they were committed, had no existence, authorize punishment in advance of any act of guilt, and then decide a sentence which at the time of the commission of the acts sought to be punished was wholly unknown in the history of jurisprudence either in this country or in England. Such an act, if attempted to be applied to the case of President Johnson, would be so clearly ex post facto and unconstitutional that we assume that Mr. Kelsey designs it merely as a general act, for use in future similar cases.

And, while we do not see the fitness of Mr. Kelsey's bill to meet all the emergencies demanded in a general law, it must be conceded that some law ought to be passed defining at what period the power to arrest attaches in impeachment cases, and what tribunal may exercise it. In England, in the cases of the Earl of Strafford, Archbishop Laud, and most, if not all, the others, the official was arrested as soon as impeached, was sent to the Tower, and was brought before the bar of the House of Lords under arrest like an ordinary prisoner before a court. Every analogy from English practice would indicate that the power of arrest attaches as soon as the impeachment is found. As the impeachment corresponds to indictment, analogy would infer the same from the ordinary criminal practice in courts. Whether the power of arrest should inhere in the House or the Senate, and in what mode it should be exercised, should also be clearly defined. There are serious objections to any attempt to define in advance the offenses for which any official may be impeached. Mr. Kelsey's definition merely enumerates the cases of usurpation of power and obstruction to the due execution of law. But this definition would be by no means broad enough. In this country, as in England, doubtless, for an error of judgment or statesmanship, an officer might be impeached if the consequences were sufficiently disastrous, even where there were none but a patriotic intent. This would be far more justifiable under our Constitution, under which impeachment and conviction by Congress are designed for the protection of the nation, rather than the punishment of the crime, which is left to courts of justice. As legislators have never been able to define what acts amount to fraud, so we doubt if they can possibly define in advance what official acts shall be deemed misdemeanors.

The whole question of impeachment must be considered, not as party policy, but as National duty. Congress must enter this investigation, determined to shrink from none of its responsibilities. There is no law more plainly written than that which provides impeachment, and it is the only law that stands between the country and a dictatorship. We cannot impeach Mr. Johnson because he has left the Republican party. If he has been merely such a President as McClellan or Pendleton would have been, then impeachment is a political menace, and amounts to nothing. On the other hand, if the evidence warrants it, we must not refuse to proceed, because, perchance, we may lessen our majorities at the next election. Let there be no passion in the matter. The precedent we make will last for all time. The Federal Executive office is necessary to the harmony of our system, and must not be rudely assailed. We have not yet seen evidence enough to make up our mind in favor of impeachment, and we shall wait and see what new evidence has been obtained.

A ROMANCE AND A WEDDING.

A Belgian Baron Marries a Treasury Clerk.

From the Washington (Nov. 21) Correspondence of the New York Herald.]

The monotony of social life in Washington was relieved to-day by an advent of rather uncommon occurrence in these unpoetical times. In the church of the Epiphany, an Episcopal place of worship, Baron Henri Van Havre, Secretary of the Belgium Legation, was united in wedlock to Miss Camilla Webb. The history of the attachment which led to this happy consummation, embraces a considerable degree of the romantic element. The Baron, who is connected with one of the most aristocratic and wealthy families of Belgium, came here a few years ago as Secretary of Legation. He is a gentleman about thirty years of age, tall and commanding in appearance, and an ardent lover of poetry and music. About six months after his arrival he happened to pay a visit to the Treasury Department, and in the course of his inspection of our financial machinery he became interested with the beauty of the lady to whom he was married today. Miss Camilla Webb was a clerk in the office of the Controller of the Currency. She was born in the southern part of Virginia, and came to Washington about five years ago. She was accompanied by her widowed mother, and though in comparatively poor circumstances, they were invited to the most respectable society here. The Baron effected an introduction to Miss Webb, and considerable intimacy followed. About a year ago he returned to Europe and traveled extensively over the continent. After spending about five months there he resolved on coming back to this country, impelled by a desire to express his attachment to Miss Webb, having failed to find abroad any more attractive object. Three days ago he wealthy and aristocratic Baron, accompanied by his intended bride, Miss Webb, and attended by a party of intimate friends, proceeded to the Catholic church of St. Aloysius, and had the nuptial ceremony performed. The Baron is a Catholic and his wife an Episcopalian. To-day the Episcopal ceremony of marriage was completed in presence of a select and fashionable congregation. The bride, who is about twenty years of age, was dressed in pearl colored silk, and, with her wealth of golden tresses, bright blonde complexion and delicately chiseled features created no small degree of admiration. Among those present on the occasion were Baron Stoeckle, Russian Minister; Mr. Geroult, Italian Minister; Baron Geroldt and Baron Kusserauw, of the Prussian Embassy; Miss Botts, Miss Anderson and Miss Mary Webb, sister of the bride; Mr. Maurice Delfosse, the Belgium Minister, and Mr. Castagnalli, Secretary of the Italian Legation, acted as groomsmen. The Rev. Dr. Hall performed the ceremony, after which both bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their friends. In the evening they left for New York, whence they sail for Belgium.

"Working for dear life," is defined to be making clothes for a new baby.

A NEW REVELATION.

There are religious sectaries who maintain the doctrine that the Bible is susceptible of infinite interpretations and progressive revelations, and that the plain text may multiply and expand according to the inspiration of him who interprets it. These interpreters do not lay any stress upon the meaning of words, but believe that the progressive theories and wild notions of men lay couched in the labyrinths of language, to be brought out as occasion may require. The monstrous idea prevails with them that there are no fixed rules of action, no principles which should guide men in their conduct. An analagous theory prevails with reference to the Constitution of the United States. An instance of this may be found in the case of Col. McCARDLE, a Mississippi editor.

Col. McCARDLE, as editor of the Vicksburg Times, is charged with: 1st. Disturbance of the public peace; 2d. Inciting to a breach of the peace; 3d. Libel; 4th. Impeding reconstruction. He is charged with committing these offences by writing and printing offensive articles, and was therefore arrested by order of Maj. Gen. ORD, commanding the 4th Military District. A Military Commission was ordered to try him. A writ of Habeas Corpus was issued and he was brought before Judge HILL, United States District Judge, to try the authority whereby he was detained in custody. Judge HILL remands the prisoner to military custody, to be tried by the Commission appointed by Maj. Gen. ORD.

The Judge argues but two points in his lengthy opinion. These are, first, whether the Reconstruction Act is Constitutional or not; and second, whether the Commanding General of the Fifth Military District has the power, under this act, to arrest and try, before a Military Commission, for the causes set forth in the answer and return. Both of these questions he decides in the affirmative, by a course of reasoning which would gain him the applause of any Radical politician in Congress—that being what he aims at, judging from the poverty of his Judicial reasoning. This "DANIEL come to judgment" argues that everything like an independent Judiciary in Mississippi has been obliterated by the war, and that all that is left for the course of justice is to try citizens of Mississippi by Military Commission. Oh, just Judge!

But Judge HILL forgets or wilfully neglects to read the following emphatic provisions of a great charter which he ought to respect—which, in fact, he is sworn to obey:

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Article I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press. * * *

Article IV. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district, wherein the crime shall have been committed, etc., etc.

In the Declaration of Independence we find one of the enumerations of tyranny, on the part of the British King, that "he has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power;" and that, "for depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury" is one of the causes of resistance to the Government of England. And yet an American Judge, duly commissioned and sworn to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution and laws, hesitates not, in the face of all the precedents and principles of English and American liberty, to remand a prisoner, charged with offences growing out of his privileges, as the editor of a free press, to trial by a Military Commission. The world can scarcely furnish a parallel to an obliquity which can so degrade the Judicial ermine. We can find no parallel to it in history. Judges are generally proud of their eminence above political temptation. They feel that they have no temptation to soil their ermine with the dust of selfishness, or the filth of partisanship. But Judge HILL has so clearly forgotten the integrity of his high position as to abdicate it in favor of one of those Military Commissions which, it has been said, is organized to convict. The muniments of English law are abandoned, the right of trial by jury is forfeited, and a citizen of Mississippi is placed in charge of a Court which has been organized by his accusers, whose prejudices are against him, however honorable or disinterested may be the gentlemen who compose it. As a Judge, how can he have given such a judgment? As a Jurist how dare he promulgate it? As a custodian of the American system of Jurisprudence, how can he appear before the people, whose interest he is sworn to protect, without a burning blush forever crimsoning his cheeks?

THE HERALD ON IMPEACHMENT.

The New York Herald, which, it cannot be denied, has pioneered the movement against negro supremacy in the North, thus boldly speaks with regard to the effect of the effort at the impeachment of the President on the coming Presidential election and the hopes of Radicalism:

And what does all this prosecution signify? The trial, conviction, condemnation and removal of Mr. Johnson for these alleged high crimes and misdemeanors? Or a desperate expedient of the Radicals, in their sore distress, to turn the current of the popular wrath from themselves to "the man at the other end of the avenue?" Manifestly the object of the Radical soreheads is to divert the public attention from their revolutionary doings in Congress to the alleged usurpations of the President, if they can do nothing more. By the general verdict of this year's elections they stand condemned from Connecticut to California, and back again to New York, where a popular anti-Radical majority of fifty thousand stares them in the face. But this cuttle-fish device of darkening the water will not serve them. There is a danger in it to the Republican party which the thoughtful and cool-headed men will, if possible, avoid; for if Andrew Johnson's impeachment and removal be made a party test the result will be a disruption of the party. We have had this result foreshadowed in all these late elections; for this thing of impeachment, we repeat, was among the dead weights thereof which the Republican party had to carry. The terrible drama of Radical fanaticism has here degenerated into a miserable farce, and the farce will soon be ended.

The Radical programme for the succession has collapsed. The eleven rebel States, including Tennessee, reconstructed on the basis of negro supremacy, will doubtless all be hurried up and hurried into Congress in season for the Presidential election, and they will all be Radical States. But they will not be sufficient to save the Radical faction. On the programme of universal negro suffrage, and on Mr. Chase's ultimatum of gold for the bondholders and National Bank rags for the people, the popular reaction developed in Ohio and New York will sweep, next November, the Central States and the West as a fire sweeps over the prairies. From the signs in the heavens and the earth Massachusetts and Vermont will, perhaps, be left as the only remaining monument of Radicalism in the mighty North. These two, with the eleven negro States of the South, will probably constitute the opposition to the new administration and the new Union party in power from and after the 4th of March, 1869.

Gen. Grant, upon his own broad and ample Union platform, will serve for the accomplishment of these great ends; we don't know whether even Gen. Grant's popular whirlwind that is brewing on the all-absorbing money question. The National debt, our burden of taxation, our budgets of official corruptions, prodigalities, frauds and spoils and plunder, are now foremost in the popular mind. The rebellion, with all its horrors, the war for the Union, with all its honors and its heroes, no longer hold the foreground in the public eye; but this mountain of debt, taxes and corruptions stands forth in the boldest relief. In its presence this farce of impeachment becomes a mockery, universal negro suffrage a delusion and Southern negro supremacy an outrage which will serve to swell the uprising of the indignant North for what Kossuth would call "the solidarity of the people and their imprescriptible rights."

LEGISLATIVE.

The Senate was not in session on Saturday. In the House, the Railroad Omnibus Appropriation Bill, the details of which we have heretofore published, was discussed. In the debate on this bill Mr. Hamilton objected to extending its benefits to the Mississippi Central Railroad Company because of the Directors (whose names he read) but one was a loyal man, and many of them had been officers in the rebel army. He offered an amendment providing that any road receiving the aid contemplated in the bill shall not employ any person who cannot take the oath prescribed in the franchise law.

Mr. Speaker Richards called Mr. Bean to the chair and addressed the House. He claimed that this was a matter of business, and not one of politics. He was opposed to the idea that there could be no legislation that did not involve politics. It was strictly a matter of business, and there was no propriety in dragging politics into it. Finally, with rare consistency the same individual moved an amendment in lieu, which provided that no person should travel on any of the roads named in the bill, without subscribing to the franchise oath.

Mr. Kerchival moved to lay both amendments on the table.

Without coming to a vote, the House adjourned until 2 p.m.

In the afternoon session the bill finally passed second reading by a vote of 39 to 30.

Mr. John R. Henry, State Treasurer, submitted the annual report, from which we extract the following:

Balance in Treasury Jan. 1, 1867.....	$217,542 58
Received upon Comptroller's Warrants from Jan. 1st to Sept. 30th, 1867.....	1,641,749 62
Amount to the debit of the present Treasurer.....	1,862,292 20
Disbursed upon Comptroller's Warrants from Jan. 1st to Sept. 30th, 1867.....	1,304,602 45
Leaving a balance to be accounted for.....	557,689 75

The balance, as represented by the Comptroller, is much larger than is stated in this report, owing to the fact that the Treasury was overdrawn at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The large amount here represented would show that the Treasury was in a very flourishing condition, but the true amount of available funds will be given below.

To facilitate the payment of the interest on State debt falling due July 1st, 1867, deposits were made in the Fourth National Bank, New York, from time to time, and on the 30th of September, 1867, there had been deposited

In that Bank as per statement.....	$420,637 65
Amount balance in Tennessee National Bank, Memphis.....	59,940 50
Amount balance in First and Second National Banks of Nashville, available funds.....	77,111 60
	$557,689 75

You will see from the above statement the true amount in available funds, as stated above, was the amount in the First and Second National Banks of Nashville, $77,111 60.

THE TENNESSEE NATIONAL BANK OF MEMPHIS.

This bank was made a fiscal agent for the Western portion of the State previous to January 1st, 1867, and

There was represented to have been in that bank at that time.....	$34,025 16
There was deposited, from January 1, as per certificates of deposit in this office, the sum of.....	34,639 14
Making the following amount in this bank March 8, 1867.....	$68,664 45
About the same time the bank failed, and on applying for the funds due the State, there was obtained only.....	8 723 95
Leaving a balance still due from bank.....	$59,940 50

To secure this amount sundry notes and securities have been placed in my hands, upon which legal proceedings have commenced, and it is confidently expected that most of the money may be obtained.

Mr. Taylor offered a resolution requesting the United States to pay to the State of Tennessee the expenses incurred by the State in calling into the service the State Guards of Tennessee; and this on the ground that the State of Tennessee was compelled to organize this military force for her own protection, which protection was justly due from the United States.

Senate Resolution No. 21—Instructing Representatives in Congress from Tennessee to use their influence to have the proceeds of certain loyalty bonds executed by rebel citizens of Tennessee, and which bonds, it is claimed, have been forfeited, appropriated to indemnify loyal citizens of the State for losses incurred by the war. Passed.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 32—Requesting a report from the Paymaster of the State Guards. Passed.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 83—Requesting a detailed report from the Quartermaster-General of the State. Passed.

House Resolution No. 103—Providing that the General Assembly adjourn on the 20th of December, to meet on the second Monday in January, 1868. Passed.

Mr. Wines offered an amendment appropriating $130,000 to the Memphis, Clarksville and Louisville Railroad Company. Laid on the table.

The House adjourned until 9 o'clock a.m. Monday (yesterday).

Special Dispatch to the Appeal.]

KNOXVILLE, December 2.—The case of J. H. McVicker vs. Geo. J. Deagle came up in the United States Supreme Court to-day, and was ably argued on the part of the plaintiff by Hon. T. A. Nelson, and by Judge Swan for the defense. Hon. Connelly F. Trigg granted the application for injunction restraining defendant from representing the play entitled A Tale of Enchantment. The decision in this case is one of much importance to the dramatic profession.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

NEW ORLEANS, December 2.—Section Four of Wickliffe's educational ordinance, which was referred on Saturday, is as follows: "No person shall establish a private school unless licensed by the State, and all such schools shall be taxed as other professions. The Legislature shall make laws governing these institutions in accordance with the spirit of these resolutions."

Some member to-day offered a series of resolutions having in view the raising of funds to defray the expenses of the Convention by direct taxation on real and personal property above the value of $200, upon callings or professions, and a poll tax—all taxes to be payable in United States currency. It also provides for the appointment of a Board of three Collectors in each parish or municipal district, the collection to commence within thirty days of the passage of this act with ten days' notice.

Section 10 of this act empowers collectors with all necessary authority for the collection, and to enforce it by a summary process by authorizing them to seize and sell all property at auction after ten days' notice, and gives them the power to call a posse commitatus when any one interferes.

Section 11 is as follows: All courts and officers of courts throughout the State, are hereby forbidden to interfere with said collectors or disparage their duties under this ordinance, by any legal process whatever, under penalty of impeachment, fine or imprisonment.

Section 16 says: No privileges, exceptions or proscriptions, as heretofore established by law, shall have any force against the provisions of this ordinance, and all rights, credits and titles shall be liable to seizure for the collection of the taxes herein levied, all taxes heretofore and now in force to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 18 provides for the appointment of a special committee styled "the Tax Judicial Committee," to decide all difficulties arising from the enforcement of this act, whose decision shall be final. The ordinance was referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

A resolution was offered that the members receive eight dollars per diem, and mileage, and laid over.

Another was offered recommending that Gen. Hancock remove from office all men disfranchised under the Reconstruction laws, and the appointment of loyal citizens to their places. This was also laid over, under the rule.

The resolution of Saturday, to ratify the levee bonds, come up and was discussed, and a motion made to postpone it. It was fiercely opposed by the ruling wing of the extreme Radicals, on the ground that it was an attempt to indorse rebel legislation and compensate rebel planters.

Archbishop Odin received a formal reception from the Clergy and city societies yesterday. Gen. Howard and staff were present.

Extract IV of Special Orders No. 200, dated to day, is as follows:

"Paragraph I, Special Orders 197, from these headquarters, dated November 28, 1867, issued by Brevet Maj. Gen. J. A. Mower, removing from office Smith Isord, aid to the Chief of Police of this city, and appointing in his place Porter V. Perkins, is hereby revoked. Paragraph II of the same order, removing from office Lieut. O'Donnell, of the City Police of the Second District of New Orleans, and appointing Angelo V. Ward in his place, is also revoked. If any charges or allegations are presented against these officers, who are reinstated by this order, they will be considered by the Mayor and Police Board, to whom the subject properly pertains.

"By command of Maj. Gen. Hancock. (Signed) W. G. MITCHELL, A. A. A. G."

The order revoked by the above was issued on the morning of Gen. Hancock's arrival. Perkins, who was appointed to succeed Isord, is a cousin to Gen. Mower.

Extract II, Special Order No. 200, removes R. King Cutler from the bench of the Second District Court, to which he was appointed by Gen. Mower, and declares the office vacant.

LOUISVILLE, December 2.—The river is stationary with two feet ten inches in the canal. The weather is cloudy and mild.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—In the Senate to-day a memorial from citizens to abolish the cotton tax, was referred.

A petition from Atchison, Kansas, for impartial suffrage, was also referred.

A letter was received from the Secretary of the Treasury in regard to the amount received by Col. Hubbard from the sale of captured and abandoned property.

A bill to substitute gold notes for legal tenders, and afford facilities for specie payment, was ordered to be printed.

At twelve o'clock the Senate of the Fortieth Congress was called to order, and the Secretary ordered to inform the President and the House.

A committee was appointed to wait on the President, who returned stating that he would communicate with the Senate in writing to-morrow.

In the House, on the motion of Mr. Blaine, the Committee on Banking and Currency were instructed to inquire into the expediency of so changing the laws in respect to the taxation of National Banks, so as to permit all stock owned in the State, where the bank is located, to be assessed or paid in the city or town where the stockholder resides.

Mr. Wilson, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, obtained leave to make a personal explanation, referring to the editorial article in the Intelligencer of the 28th of November, in which the action of Mr. Churchill, of New York, in the impeachment question is spoken of as disrespectful, and he is denounced as an unfortunate beggar for place and patronage at the Executive mansion.

Ashley introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which was referred to the Judiciary Committee. It declares that "all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and who are subject to its jurisdiction, and who are citizens of the State or Territory wherein they reside, makes all such citizens who are over twenty-one years of age, except untaxed Indians, and makes it incumbent on each State to establish and maintain free public schools for the accommodation of all children. It also renders ineligible to State, Congress, or any civil or military office under the Government, all who were members of any Convention or Legislature, or who held a commission above the rank of Captain in the rebel army; and provides that the validity of the public debt shall not be questioned; and that no part of the rebel debt shall ever be recognized, or payment made for the loss or emancipation of slaves.

The Speaker announced that the hour fixed by a concurrent resolution of both Houses for the adjournment of the Fortieth Congress had arrived, and therefore declared the session adjourned; and declared that the second session of the Fortieth Congress, in conformity with the Constitution, would now commence its session. One hundred and forty-six members were present.

A message from the Senate was received, which announced its appointment of a committee to join a similar committee from the House, to wait on the President and inform him that Congress was in session and ready to receive any communication he chose to make.

On motion of Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, a like committee was appointed and Messrs. Washburne, Banks and Pruyn, were appointed. Subsequently Washburne reported that the Committee had waited on the President, and he had informed them that he would send his annual message to Congress at half past twelve to-morrow. The other proceedings were unimportant.

—The pedestrian Weston, arrived in Chicago at 10:40 Thursday morning, and proceeded to the Sherman House, where his wife and child were awaiting him. An immense crowd assembled in front of the hotel, and he walked around the balcony with his child in his arms. In the afternoon he appeared at the Crosby Opera House, at the matinee. The shoemaker that beat Weston between Elkhart and Goshen, a distance of ten miles, was reported dead; but he was only dead drunk.

—A recent Paris letter says: "Already the reaction after the Exposition has set in. People are leaving by battalions, and as I have much abused the hotels for raising—as they did inordinately—their prices, I rejoice in doing them speedy justice by saying that good hotels—the Grand, the Louvre, and the Helder—have already returned to their status quo ante Exposition. Packing up and going away is going on so rapidly, that it reminds one of the coming Christmas holidays at a private school."

THE Royal Library of Berlin contains five hundred thousand volumes. Guttenberg's first Bible, dated 1450, is there, also two sheets of Virgil's original MSS.

TWO MILLION eggs are used yearly at Dresden in the manufacture of 6000 reams of albumenized paper, which will make 120,000 photographs.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE IN LAGRANGE TENN.

THE splendid Residence and Town Lots in LaGrange, Fenn., known as the "PARIS GORMAN PLACE," are for sale; also, the Residence and Town Lots of Mrs. M. J. Goode. THE PRICE OF Gas Reduced.

FOR GAS SUPPLIED FROM AND AFTER this date, the

Memphis Gaslight Company

will abate ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY CENTS per 1000 cubic feet from the price heretofore charged.

The net price will be Four Dollars and Fifty Cents per 1000 cubic feet, if paid promptly in accordance with the company's rules as stated on every bill rendered; if not so paid the price will be Five Dollars per 1000 cubic feet.

Much has been said and written about the price of gas, and generally in an unfair spirit. It is believed, on comparing the gravity reduced rate of this company with the prices charged elsewhere, that most thinking persons will be fully satisfied with it.

In Galveston the rate is $8 per 1000 cubic feet. In Savannah, Mobile, Charleston, Vicksburg and Natchez, the price is $6 per 1000 cubic feet. In Norfolk, $5; St. Louis, Nashville, Cairo, Paducah and Madison, $4 50, and in New Orleans, $4 per 1000 cubic feet.

The average price on the Mississippi river, from St. Louis to New Orleans, and including those cities, is $5 per 1000 cubic feet.

Gas may be made and sold at less expense on the sea coast than in this city, yet the company have reduced the rate far below the prices obtained in southern seaport cities and below the average prices in towns and cities on the Mississippi river.

In Cincinnati the rate is $2 75 per 1000 cubic feet, and in Louisville, $3 80; but when their better facilities for obtaining coal at half the cost it can be had at this place, and the vastly greater consumption of gas in large cities is considered, the price proposed must appear as comparatively cheap.

THE DESOTO

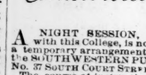
Commercial College.

A NIGHT SESSION, IN CONNECTION with this College, is now inaugurated. As a temporary arrangement, the Class meets in the SOUTH-WESTERN PUBLISHING HOUSE, No. 37 SOUTH COURT STREET.

The course of instruction is eminently practical as well as scientific, embracing everything necessary to fit young men for the efficient discharge of the duties of an Accountant and Book keeper in a merchant's office. The student goes through precisely the same routine of journalizing, posting into his ledger, and closing his books, and then making out his balance sheet, as he would in actual business. This process is renewed an indefinite number of times, till he becomes as familiar with these operations and as expert in performing them, as if he had spent a long apprenticeship in the counting House.

TERMS.—For eight Session (in advance) one month, $8; three months, $20.

Stenography.



This elegant and beautiful art, so indispensable to the public journalist, the lawyer, clergyman and student, and so invaluable to the business man, is taught successfully in TEN LESSONS for $10. For further information apply to the undersigned, during the usual hours of business, or at night, at the South-western Publishing House.

The Night Session commences at half-past 6 and closes at 8.

THE IMPENDING CRASH!

TO THE

CITIZENS OF MEMPHIS.

THAT THE money market is stringent, and nothing to warrant the hope that the near future may bring forth a better state of things, is but too strongly evidenced by the many and large failures, not alone in Memphis, but all over the country.

In view of those stern facts we have, after two week's diligent attention, succeeded in going through our immense stock from 1st to 4th floor, and marking down the same to prices that ill repay our labor.

As an enumeration of our IMMENSE AND WELL SELECTED STOCK would occupy too much time and space, we shall confine ourselves to a mention of the leading departments in our house, hoping thereby to attract the desired notice without resorting to the pettifogging system of enumerating "catch penny" prices in connection with certain articles of but little or no value at best.

Our house being one of the oldest—if not the

and, we presume, in point of reliability and the means to sustain any losses the times may inflict, second to none in the city, we trust any announcement emanating from us may be received in the true and genuine light it is intended.

We have never carried on our business on the strength of newspaper "puffs" and placards, nor do we intend to do it now; but Dry Goods being about to resume their old standard value, we think it but due to our many kind old patrons to make them aware of the great and sudden decline in our prices.

The departments will be comprised in the following, viz:

CLOAK AND SHAWL ROOM,

An elegant assortment of
BLACK VELVET DE LYON SACQUES,
BLACK AND COLORED do. do.,
BLACK CLOTH do. do.,
CHINCHILLA, do. do.
A large and well assorted stock of
WOOL SHAWLS,
HOODS,
NUBIAS,
BREAKFAST CAPES, ETC., ETC.

FURS, FURS, FURS.

An extensive variety of FURS at very attractive prices.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

A newly selected stock of SILKS—some nice evening shades.

Our Line of Black Silks Defies Competition,

as regards quality and price.

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT,

Embraces
IRISH POPLINS in all shades and colors,
FRENCH, NORWICH, REGISTER,
LYONNAISE and VELVET POPLINS.
Also, a large stock of
MERINOS,
EMPRESS CLOTH,
BLACK AND GOLD—in endless variety,
BOMBAZINES,
WOOL PLAIDS, ETC., ETC.

Some beautiful new goods for Walking and Dressing Suits.

HOSIERY & GLOVE DEPARTMENT.

A full and beautifully selected stock of
LADIES' AND MISSES' HOSIERY,
ALEXANDRE'S GLOVES.
A full line of Ladies', Gents', Youths' and Misses' Underwear.

Linen and Housekeeping Department.

We have the most complete stock, Irish Linens from the best recognized manufacturers. Table Damasks—single and double, Napkins and Doylies, Towels and Toweling, Crash, etc., etc.

The most complete stock of Blankets and Flannels we have ever had. Counterpanes and Quilts—a large stock.

CLOTH DEPARTMENT.

A magnificent stock of Black Cloths—French, Italian and German—Tweeds for Boys' Suits, Scotch and West of England Tweeds, Cloakings—extremely pretty.

Boot and Shoe Department.

A complete stock of Miles Boots and Shoes.

TO PLANTERS.

Our stock of Planters' Goods is too well known to need any remarks other than call attention to it.

It is replete with Boots, Shoes and Brogans, Hat, Clothing in endless variety and of best material.

PLAIN AND PLAID LINSEY.

Kerseys and Jeans, Osnaburgs and Stripes, in fact everything that is needed by the Planter in the shape of Dry Goods, and at figures that will insure his satisfaction.

In addition to the above many inducements, we have for Salesmen young men who, for attention and politeness, and knowledge of their business, cannot be excelled, if equalled, in this city.

As we are not "closing out" nor running away from the city, we don't desire to make any statements that will meet refutation; therefore give us a call, and thereby satisfy yourselves and gratify us.

WANTED—THE PATENT

AURORA OIL.

We want men every where to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the prise of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is NO MORE explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney. It does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible. One man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and hills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold wealth.

PRIVATE ROOMS.—Young men and others desiring private rooms in a good locality, should apply immediately at 477 Shelby street.

IT will be seen that a special train for the sale at Goodlett's Station, leaves the Depot of the Memphis and Charleston railroad at 10 o'clock this morning.

THE MAYORALTY.—By reference to a card in another column it will be seen that Mr. Mayor Lofland is a candidate for re-election to the office of the Chief Magistracy.

RETURNED.—Dr. Hinson, the well known Dentist, returned last evening from the country, where he has been spending his honeymoon, and can be found at his old stand in the Clay Building.

TYPOGRAPHICAL MATTERS.—At a late regular meeting of Memphis Union No. 11, the following named gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing half-year: President, Henry White; Vice-President, Henry Moore; Secretary, W. F. White; Financial Secretary, C. L. Spencer; Treasurer, Geo. E. Hawkins.

A GEM IN ITS WAY.—The following letter was received yesterday by one of our most popular ticket agents. It speaks for itself:

Dear Sir: Please Tell me what the fair is to Chicago and the fair for a Survent I'll send him in the Seckeut Class Car what it is the Bill pleas tell me. N. H. W.

ARRIVED.—A pupil of the great Horace Mann, of Massachusetts, named Nathan Fellows, is in Memphis, and says he is going to study law in the Criminal Courts, as he says, "because the Dominican monks say it can be done." This individual visits the jail and prisons daily. His upper story is supposed to be slightly vacant. Although he is in a different line from the immortal J. N., the self-styled philosopher, he professes a great respect for that "Free" crack-brained individual.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.—A young man named Jacob Paul complained to Mr. Justice Miller, yesterday, that Capt. Zeigler, of the steamer Post Boy, had assaulted him with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused. According to the story of Paul, it appears that he was standing on the fourth deck when Capt. Zeigler came up with a club, and uttering the word "confidence," struck him a blow over the head inflicting an ugly wound. Paul made his escape and speedily made complaint as above.

INQUEST.—An inquest was held yesterday morning, by Mr. Coronor Cotton, on the body of an unknown white man found dead in Parker's Wagon Yard, on Market Street near Second. After a full investigation a verdict was rendered by the jury, who found "that the deceased came to his death from want and exposure." Verdicts of this kind are often rendered by juries. However correct they may be, it does indeed seem strange that in a Christian community like Memphis, where such a large amount of taxes are paid for the support of the poor, wanderers are permitted to die in pens and on the roadside.

LUMBER DEALERS.—Messrs. W. T. Swanwick & Co., continue their business at foot of Adams street, opposite Bradley block, where they may be found by their old and new customers. They are not only clever, reliable gentlemen, but sound and enterprising business men, and keep on hand at all times a most excellently assorted stock of lumber, shingles, laths, door-sash, blinds, cheaper than have ever been sold in the city. Orders from the city or country will be faithfully attended to, and satisfaction will be given in all cases. We bespeak for them a liberal share of patronage from our readers.

SOUTH MEMPHIS LOTS.—The large number of persons who have been disappointed in consequence of the inclemency of the weather, for the past four days, will be gratified to know that the balance of the lots in the Meath subdivision will most positively be sold, commencing at 10 o'clock this morning. These lots are near the Mississippi and Tennessee Depot at the foot of Main street, and within a square of the terminus of the Street railway, and in a very healthy and very desirable and improving location. Speculators and others will now have a rare chance to make money. Ample refreshments will be provided, as the sale may consume several hours. All the lots will be sold most positively.

GEO. PHILLER & Co.—These gentlemen represent the hide and leather business, and their establishment is located between Front street and the river, on Adams street. They purchase and ship hides of all descriptions, and do a large and rapidly increasing business in this important branch of trade. They furnish many of the largest tanneries in the country with hides, and are agents for the Bush & Howard Tannery, located at Buffalo, N. Y., said to be one of the largest in the United States. They deal in hemlock sole leather, furnished by this establishment, and keep an excellent supply of articles appertaining to their line always on hand at prices entirely reasonable. Their card appears in our double column this morning, and special attention is directed thereto.

RADICAL SPECULATION.—"Hereafter the Weekly Post will be sent for one year to our subscribers, single, or in clubs, for two dollars, invariably in advance." The Evening Radical journal of this city has the above card, which we think under the circumstances very cool. Those who wish to invest after reading the following notice, published in the Memphis papers a few days ago, can do so: "In the case of J. M. Tomeny et al vs. Jno. Eaton et al, the complainants allege in their bill that they are stockholders in the Memphis Post, and charge that John Eaton and L. B. Eaton have fraudulently credited contributions as their own capital stock, and money received for advertisements, and that they have generally mismanaged the business of the concern."

GAS.—Mr. Fitch is too busy electioneering to watch the interests of the gas consumers. The lights of a great portion of the city, if not all, went out on Saturday night, about ten o'clock. At least, such was the case as far as our observation afforded us an opportunity to judge, and in the Opera House, if it had not been for the calcium light, the whole audience, actors and all, would have been enveloped in Cimmerian darkness. There is another thing that claims the attention of the candidate for Mayor—Fitch—the fact that the lamps are not regularly lighted throughout the city, and especially on Shelby street. To be sure, the city pays, and the Gas Company makes by these omissions; but will Fitch have the cause of complaint remedied, provided the "coming event" should go against him? There is a "gas question" pending which is of decided interest to our community. We have had any amount of injunctions, restraining our pleasurable enjoyments—but all feel the inconvenience of that which impedes an element to industry and economy; and there is a general hope that the prayer of the old monopoly will not be sustained, notwithstanding it has come down somewhere from fifteen to twenty per cent. in its charges, although coal is scarce, the river low, and there is no present prospect of a rise, unless in gas, when all danger of competition shall be removed, if indeed, such can be the case with those who have the adjudication in their

SHOOTING ON SHELBY STREET.

A NEGRO SHOT AND KILLED.

Jealousy the Cause.

A shooting affair occurred on Shelby street Saturday night, when a negro named Ben Stevens was shot by Tom Shaver, the keeper of a drinking saloon on Shelby street. It would appear that Shaver and Stevens, although apparently good friends, had differed as to the possession of a wench. The affair culminated in a shooting match. Shaver ordered Stevens to leave the house, when Stevens resisted and refused, when Shaver drew a pistol and shot Stevens, wounding him in the left shoulder. Stevens following him up, he shot again, the second shot taking effect near the region of the heart. Shaver, fearing arrest, made his way to the Causey street stationhouse and gave himself up to the authorities. An inquest was held by Coroner Cotton, whose jury rendered the following verdict: "That the deceased came to his death from a pistol shot wound at the hands of Tom Shaver." The accused will be examined by Justice Miller to-day at 3 p.m., on a coroner's warrant, requiring his appearance. The frequent shooting affairs of this kind are becoming too numerous, and until some of these offenders suffer the extreme penalty of the law, the evil will not be remedied.

PERSONAL.—Our young and popular friend Mr. Charles Earle, of the Southern Life Insurance Company, leaves this morning for Rosserville, Pocahontas and other places in the Southern portion of our State on business for the Company he represents. We wish him a pleasant and prosperous trip.

J. A. Signaigo, editor of the Grenada Sentinel, is in town. Our old associate is the same as ever, and his paper offers superior inducements to our advertising public.

W. A. Shankle, the proprietor of the Railroad Hotel at Grenada, paid us a visit yesterday. Having on a former occasion enjoyed his hospitality, we were pleased to extend to him the right hand of fellowship. He keeps a good house, and treats everybody well. Travelers by the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad should not fail to see him.

Gen. Gordon Granger, U. S. A., left on the Memphis and Louisville railroad last night for a brief visit to the North, and will be absent about two weeks.

Col. M. C. Gallaway, of the Avalanche, returned to the city yesterday, apparently in good health and spirits. It is to be hoped that he "comes to stay."

A. H. Holden of the Donegan Hotel, Huntsville, Ala., is in town, putting up at the Overton. Passengers on the Southern Mail Route should not fail to stop at Huntsville and see Holden & King.

Judge J. M. Howry, of Oxford, Miss., arrived in the city last evening, and is stopping at the Worsham House.

W. H. King, the assistant ticket agent of the Memphis and Louisville railroad, arrived in this city last night and is putting up at the Overton. Our genial friend, whose kindness we have heretofore experienced, remains in this city for a few days.

A MOST INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.—When precocious genius manifests itself, when the obtuse keenness that too often accompanies it, we cannot refuse our admiration; and the hope is always uppermost that the accumulation of years will only ripen into full fruitage that which blossomed with promise so early. This thought was with us in introducing a letter from a very little lad, who has not yet reached his "teens" by several years, to a very little lady of this city, to whom young affection clung, so tenderly and truly that it turns back with fullness, even from the sight of trans-Atlantic adventure and incident. If he do not make his mark as a poet and satirist, it will not be from the fact that he has not evinced a ready perception of both in this youthful effusion:

LONDON, August 30, 1867.

O! sweet Stella, I went to-day
Wand'ring this London far away—
First to St. Paul's, with its lofty dome,
But still my heart would wander home,
And dearer than statues or pictures fine,
Rose before me that form of thine!

I went to Westminster—and O! sweet girl,
Within the pleas of our Lord's Anointed,
You'll never behold so grand a thing—
Like an angel just on rising wing—
As that temple, with every soaring arch
Inviting feet from deserts that parch;
But, O, in that temple so fair and free,
My soul, sweet Stella, still turned to thee.

Next I saw all in "the British Museum,"
And only wish'd, Love, you, too, could see 'em;
There was Cæsar, and Cupid, and Venus, and all,
Standing in silence along the wall,
And a pretty girl kept coming along.
Forgive me, sweet! I thought no wrong,
But said to myself, "This little fell-er
Ain't half as pretty as you are, Stella."

Your affectionate BILL.

P. S.—O, I forgot to tell you, your mice and rats
Are nothing now to our stove-pipe hats,
Boys wear 'em here, and when I come,
You'll take my head for a kettle-drum.
But, Stella, you'll cry, what most heart aches,
Is to see my Billy dressed in knee-breeches,
For that is the fashion now, and larks like me
Have stockings that buckle up on the knee.
Darling, I'll make one bargain, you
Shall see my stockings, and gaiters, too,
If you'll pay me back for this bide-doux.

O, I don't know how to stop writing, dove,
Old Will is here and sends his love,
With his laundry coaches and rickety knee,
He can never "cut out" a beau like me.

Your BILLY.

Accompanying this was an elegant photograph of the aforesaid "Billy" and the sweet little sister, with a bright little bouquet from the Paris Exposition. An ode, such as he perpetrated, is duly recompensed by the bright little sister to whom it was addressed, and though the ways of the world be mysterious as well as devious, may the loves thus early begun culminate in the happiness they harbinger.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY ON JEFFERSON STREET.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning the private watchman employed by the tenants of the Adams and Jefferson blocks discovered two men fumbling about the door of S. Kaufman & Bro.'s tobacco and cigar store, under the Elderado. In a moment the door opened and one of the men stepped inside. The watchman who meanwhile stealthily approached, called to them. The robber who had entered suddenly sprang out on the pavement, and both ran toward the nearest alley. The watchman at once fired, but without effect, and the rascals escaped. In their flight they dropped a large, new brass door key and a small iron key. The first had evidently been made for the door from an impression previously taken in wax. The large key fitted the lock exactly. Both were found by the watchman, and this morning given to Kaufman & Bro. Whether the burglars were white men could not be ascertained in the darkness. That they are skilled operatives there can be no doubt. Our merchants should bar as well as lock their doors, if they would be safe from the efforts of midnight prowlers.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER—FIRST NIGHT OF "UNDER THE GASLIGHT"—The programme of last evening, explaining the incidents, varied and intricate as they are, was thoroughly sustained by the dramatis personæ. None but a strong company, with excellent direction, could have so cleverly carried out the intention of the dramatist. The rapid action, change of scene, and a natural (or unnatural, it may be,) climax with which each act terminates, held the large and brilliant audience, as it were, spell-bound, till the exuberance of pent-up feeling burst the barriers of etiquette, and required the curtain to rise again upon the rescue on the pier. The first act of the drama is one of intense interest, and involves the fate of the heroine throughout the play. The clouds that are to fall upon her young soul-life are there foreshadowed, to be afterwards gilded with radiant sunshine as she is borne through the scenes and changes of the fortunate denouement, through wealth and poverty, pursuit and persecution. The acting was excellent. The "star of the evening," Miss Fanny B. Price, maintained her high position as an actress, capable of the most elevated and difficult phases of the drama. Miss Fanny Pierson made her part, as she never fails to do, prominent for the fidelity with which it was presented, and Mrs. Moore deserved the respect of the audience for the faithful manner in which she portrayed one of the most revolting features of the whole play. Mr. Anderson, as "Byke," the arch-villain, added new wreaths to his reputation, and Mr. Sloan was exceedingly clever as "one of the undersrut." The characters were well represented, and little fault could be found with any of them in their respective roles, as they all seemed to be inspired to please the large and elegant audience. As the play is to be repeated until further notice, this meager outline of the performance on its first representation must suffice. From the frequent applause, and its spontaneous outburts, there could be no question as to its success. We cannot close this notice without adding a word for Mr. W. C. Thompson, the considerate and attentive manager, through whose exertions our people are provided with one of the best regulated theaters in the country, and presented with the most brilliant stars that shine in the wide dramatic firmament. As we did not make allusion to the excellent stage manager, Mr. Shirley France, as the earnest and devoted pettifogger, we must say that he would have made an excellent pleader, if he had not left his case to the arbitrament of a jury, or other tribunal. At the close of the fourth act, the "down train" came in with the richest and most telling scenic effect, reflecting not only the "head light" and all, but the very highest credit upon the artist, Mr. Chilton. It was received with the most enthusiastic applause. This new and sensational play will be repeated this evening, and those who do not gratify themselves in witnessing its representation—well, they will stand in their own light, and may have regrets hereafter.

TALE OF ENCHANTMENT.—We are informed that the United States Court, now in session at Knoxville, Judge Connelly F. Trigg presiding, has at the instance of Mr. John E. McDonough, through his agent, Mr. H. McVicker, granted an injunction prohibiting Mr. Geo. Deagle from producing the (so-called) piece, or the scenery incidental thereto. The suit on the part of the prosecutors was entirely successful. The "Tale of Enchantment" was pronounced a fraud, and the author rightfully sustained in the premises. The legitimate Black Crook will be produced under Mr. Thompson's excellent management, at the New Memphis Theater ere long, where we may expect will have an opportunity, for the first time in this city, of seeing this great spectacular drama in all its gorgeous and brilliant garniture.

THE VARIETIES.—This theater has added to its stock from the Tale of Enchantment troupe. The house was well-filled last night by a large and appreciative audience. Under the management of Mr. Broom it grows nightly in favor.

A GOOD opportunity to secure handsome furniture, at low prices, is offered in the extensive sale at the Auction Room of Royster, Trezevant & Co., on Second street, this morning.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen will be held at the Exchange building to-night at 7 o'clock. At this particular juncture it behooves the citizens to watch every act of their public servants.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, December 2, 1867.

The local money market is not improved in tone. Currency is scarce, and it is all that our banks can do to supply the necessary funds for removing cotton. To other branches of trade little, if any, help is extended, and this fact is well known that applications for loans are not frequent, while renewals are in many cases accorded to because it is the best which can be done under the circumstances. Cotton bills are offered largely, and taken at ½@ discount on New York, and ½ discount at on other Eastern cities. Southern exchange is not in demand, and our banks buy only as a favor to customers, as a discount of ¼@1 per cent. Checking rates are uniformly at par on all points.

Gold opened in New York to-day at 137½@c: it declined to 137¼, and by noon it had advanced to 137¾@c. Few small lots were taken here by dealers at 136@136½c, and sold at New York rates.

Silver is in demand but offered slowly; buying, 127@128c.

City scrip is weaker than on Saturday. Brokers are not anxious to speculate in this money, and buy sparingly. The offering rate to-day was 34@35c; selling at 38@37c.

County warrants are about as they were on Saturday; buying slowly at 67@68c; selling at 70c.

Police scrip is scarce and firm at 80@82c, buying; selling at 85c.

The opinion is widely held among stock operators that contraction will be supported, and the currency act amended so as to give the South more facilities. The November debt statement is expected by speculators for a rise to show a decrease of $4,000,000 of legal tender, and be followed by a vigorous defense of the policy of contraction by the Secretary in his report, which, his friends say, will be left by him at the control of Congress, and his attention given to the funding of the 7 3-10s and the application of his surplus revenue to the payment of the interest-bearing debt.

It is understood that the Comptroller of the Currency, in his forthcoming annual report, will present some facts bearing upon the relations of the National Banks to the Government, which will materially aid in exploding the statements that the Government pays the banks twenty millions per annum for the privilege of issuing their own notes and others of a like character. Statistics are said to have been adduced by Mr. Huriburd, going to show that the capital invested in the National Banks is very heavily taxed, and that many banks will be forced to wind up unless there is a reduction of taxes somewhere. The drift of the Comptroller's views will perhaps be taken as an indication that he thinks there may soon be a decrease in the Government tax. He will recommend monthly returns in the place of the present quarterly returns. He does not see fit to make any material recommendations in the report itself, reserving such as he thinks advisable for communication to the proper committee of Congress, when the matter shall come up for consideration.

The maximum of currency inflation was reached in August, 1865, and on the 1st of September in that year the volume of legal tender notes in circulation amounted to $894,183,959, and that of National Bank notes to $17,247,000, making a total of $861,924,179. On the 1st of the present month the amount of legal tender notes that had been reduced to $129,059,881, exclusive of $11,560,000 of three per cent certificates counted as legal tender by the banks and issued for the reduction of compound interest notes; while the National Bank notes had been increased to $290,236,796, making a total of 726,296,680, or $133,350,499 less than on the 1st of September, 1865. If we add to the amount of legal tender and National Bank notes outstanding that of the three per cent certificates and $40,709,633 of fractional currency, we find that we have a total of $770,343,313 of government and bank paper money in circulation, exclusive of whatever little of the old State Bank currency remains unredeemed; but as $11,502,429 of this amount is redeemable in legal tender, it follows that the latter are only $67,587,455 in excess of other forms of currency, and, therefore, to continue to contract the legal tenders is to invite widespread panic. Moreover, of these, only $357,151,844 are United States notes, the remainder being compound interest notes which do not enter into the active circulation of the country, but are held by the banks as a portion of their reserve. Of these there were unmatured on the 1st inst., $62,558,940, and matured, but not presented for payment, $2,216,10). The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to issue fifty millions of the three per cent certificates before referred to, and Congress should provide that the whole of this amount be issued in redemption of the remaining compound interest notes in circulation and that these certificates be redeemed whenever presented, in new legal tender notes, and that the compound interest notes in excess of the fifty millions of certificates be redeemed whenever presented, so that the volume of the currency may undergo no further reduction. The public anxiety with which the action of Congress is awaited on this important question is very great, and it is to be hoped that it will not be long delayed.

The Liverpool Cotton market to-day opened quiet; Uplands, 7¾d; Orleans, 7¾d. At 2 p.m. there is no change, and at the close it was dull and declining.; Uplands, 7¾d; Orleans, 7¾d. The New York market closed irregular and declining; Middings, 15¾@15¾c; Good Middlings, 17¾@17½c; Orleans, 16½c. The closing New York dispatch announced the receipt of a telegram in that city from Washington, saying that the Committee of Ways and Means had recommended the continuance of the cotton tax. We think this is extremely doubtful, but our mail dispatches will no doubt give particulars. Our market was very dull, with sales lighter than any day during the season. Both buyer and seller are awaiting the result of the tax question, and the market will be inactive until definite action is arrived at on that question. The market closed with a tendency to lower prices:

FARM FOR SALE.

The Best Bargain Offered

S. N. ELLIOTT offers for sale this Farm of 920 Acres, at Elliott's station, on the Mississippi Central Railroad, eight miles south of Grenada. 300 more acres can be added if desired.

The land lies on both sides of the railroad, up to Elliott's Station, and is well adapted for Mercantile and Manufacturing establishments. It has an abundance of fine timber, needed by the railroad; more than enough to pay the price of the whole tract. It is all level, and susceptible of divisions to suit any purchaser. Has 550 acres cleared and under good fence. Has a comfortable family residence with good out-houses, barns and negro cabins—large, and the best gin, screw and cotton press—all new, in the same county. An improvement to cost within the last three years $4000. Mr. Elliott desires to sell before the first of January next, and, as the strong inducement to purchase his land at ten dollars per acre, in United States Currency, for which he raised thirty dollars per acre in 1861. Time will be given, if desired, upon half the price upon fair terms. Sale must be made soon or not at all. Title of the highest grade. Refer to

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

LITTLE WILLIE.

Willie, he sits in his little chair,
By the fireside musing with brow of care;
What is he dreaming of?—idle boy—
Lesson or play, or cake or toy?

Willie has eyes that are bright and blue,
Lips like a rose in the morning dew,
Sunbeams that glitter around his face,
Feet that are music about the place.

Sorrow and Willie walk wide apart,
Life hath no sadness to touch his heart;
Nothing but pleasure his thoughts to fill,
What are you dreaming of, tell me, Will?

"Father, O father! I wonder sore
Why Lizzie comes back to you no more;
Sister Lizzie they carried away
Over the hills that snowy day.

When you are sleeping so sound and still,
And the moon lies white on the window sill,
She comes and stands by my little bed
And lays her hand on my aching head.

And she looks so pure in her robes of light,
With her pale, pale brow and her wings so white;
And she smiles so sweet as she looks on me,
I know that in heaven her home must be.

And then she kisses me, oh, how sweet!
And, Father, I hear her your name repeat;
I hear her murmur a prayer for you
In her baby voice as she used to do.

She tells me to love you, father dear;
Never to bring you a sigh or tear;
Never to hide from your head with shame:
Never dishonor your spotless name.

And she tells me, father, of endless day,
In a beautiful kingdom far away,
Where there is not a moment's sorrow of care;
And mother, she says, is smiling there.

I think she must weep, too, father dear,
To see you sitting so lonely here,
With cheeks so pale and with locks so gray,
Thinking of her so far away.

She tells me we all shall meet again,
Oh, far from this world of sin and pain;
Where sorrow is joy and strife is rest,
And God happy home in the Savior's breast.

And mother is waiting our steps to hear,
Wishing and wishing the hour were near,
When God shall call us to joy above,
And we go from earth to the land of love.

I know that your heart is like to break,
That your hair is white for my mother's sake;
That your eye is dim and your cheek is wan,
Watching and waiting to see the dawn.

When the moon is white on the window pane
And sister Lizzie shall come again,
I'll wake you, father, and you shall know
The words that she utters so soft and low."

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

NEW YORK, December 2—The Herald's special gives the testimony of Hon. Mr. Ashley before the Impeachment Committee concerning Conover's trouble and alleged complicity of the President in the assassination. Ashley undergoes a close examination, and confesses to having had certain conversations which he imputed to him in a publication of the United States Attorney General some time ago. He states he has not a living witness to prove the complicity of Mr. Johnson in the assassination of Lincoln, but from certain circumstances, which he religiously believes, he has no doubt of it himself, that his theory is nothing more or less than that it has been a customary thing to assassinate Presidents. Harrison and Taylor were both, according to Ashley's belief, poisoned through the machinations of ambitious Vice Presidents. Mr. Buchanan, he thinks, was also poisoned, but got over it.

The World says it is understood that the President adheres in the main to his own plan of reconstruction, as heretofore developed; and details the progress of restoration as developed in the South so far, under the military bills. He announces that there have been no negotiations for the settlement of the Alabama claims, and devotes considerable space to national finances, favoring substantially the policy of the Secretary of the Treasury regarding the volume of the currency.

NEW YORK, December 2.—A Kingston, Jamaica, special says: Earthquakes have occurred at St. Thomas, Torlon, Peters' Island and Little Saba. Shocks from 3 o'clock p.m. on the 28th to the 19th inst. occurred. Many lives were lost, and that was the first and only time there was also a volcanic eruption. The sea raised fifty feet over the land, and caused immense loss of life and property.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 1.—The track of the Central Pacific railroad has been laid from San Francisco to the summit and through the great tunnel over seven thousand feet above the level of the sea. The first passenger car passed through the tunnel yesterday. Twenty-four miles of the track has been laid on the east side of the mountain, and with a fortnight of fine weather, the gap of six miles will be filled up, when a connection will be made with the lower track, 130 miles east of Sacramento.

The Legislature meets at Sacramento to-morrow, when the Senatorial contest will begin. The Democrats have a majority of eighteen on joint ballot.

Reports from the mining districts are favorable. The cotton crop is twenty-five per cent. less than expected, but in spite of this, planters are taking twice as much land as before.
